GRAND JURY

Makes Report This Afternoon at Washington.

Gen. Wynne Says of All Rottenness in Government Service That in Post Office Department Takes The Lead.

(Special Advocate Telegram.)

Washington, June 5—Late this afternoon the federal grand jury returned a true bill indicting August W. Machen of the postoffice department.

Washington, June 5—The federal grand jury after being in session ten minutes this morning concluded its consideration of the postoffice department case against August W. Machen charged with bribery, and agreed to report its findings in criminal court this afternoon. No witnesses were examined this morning, a brief resume of the testimony presented yesterday being given to the jury. Officials of the government are confident that an indictment will be returned. If he is indicted Machen will not come to trial till next fall.

It is learned today that his defense will be made on the claim that the amounts he is said to have received from Groff Brothers were from another source having no connection with that firm.

The amounts in question are alleged to have been paid to him by one of his associates in his mining enterprise as legitimate business transactions, in connection with their operations in the west.

The investigation at the postoffice department is now turned in the direction of the rural free delivery routes.

Postmaster General Payne conceded today that no rural route has been abandoned since the inauguration of the system a few years ago. But he does not take kindly to the charge outside and inside of the postoffice department that routes have been established in many communities by Machen, by reason of personal or political understanding with certain members of Congress. It is understood that the investigation furnishes, however, many striking coincidences in support of his charge.

In South Carolina, for instance, routes have been established in mountainous regions where the previous postal business of the few families along the route scarcely aggregated half a dozen pieces a year. This is the state of Senator Latimer, who has gone on record as demanding of Roosevelt First Assistant Wynne's scalp.

It is learned that Latimer several months ago, complained to the President that when he sought a position in the department for a young woman, he was met by the gruff retort from

AMONG FEUDISTS

Theological Students Will Spend Summer Preaching The Gospel--Deputy Sheriff Chosen as Elisor For the Jett-White Trials.

Lexington, June 5—Within the next few days Breathitt county, the scene of Kentucky feudal murder and strife, will be invaded by a band of 25 young preachers who will spend the summer months in an earnest effort to evangelize the people and terminate the feudal feeling.

This religious army will be in charge of Rev. Barclay Meador, of this city, assisted by Revs. VanWinkle and Douthitt of Kentucky university, and the entire body will be composed of embryo preacher students of this famous Kentucky institution.

The main purposes of the pilgrimage is to preach to the people wherever an opportunity presents itself and by instilling Christian principles into their hearts, they hope to create better and improved social conditions, to render impossible a recurrence of feudal murder. Country school houses, cross-road grocery stores and improvised tents will be employed for meeting places, due notice of each meeting being made in advance.

The band will not proceed together, but will branch out in different directions, so that during the summer months before the beginning of the next scholastic term, Christian doctrines will have been preached to every man, woman and child in Breathitt county.

Preparations are now being made for a hasty departure and it is expected that they will leave about the first of next week.

NAMED AS ELISOR.

Jackson, Ky., June 5—Judge Redwine selected John Jones as the elisor to act during the coming trials of Curt Jett and Tom White who are charged with the murder of Attorney J. B. Marcum. Jones is a deputy sheriff under Sheriff Callahan, who is prominently identified with the Hargis faction, but the commonwealth professes to be perfectly satisfied with his selection. His appointment was made only after a bitter fight by Sheriff Callahan to retain his prerogative during the trials.

Sheriff Callahan had on two different occasions announced that he would not serve as sheriff during the particular trials of Jett and White, owing to the fact that he was affiliated with the Hargis faction.

However, he changed his mind, greatly to the surprise of those who profess to be on the inside.

Attorney B. F. French of the defense announced that inasmuch as neither side could name an elisor who would be mutually agreeable, he and Sheriff Callahan had come to the conclusion that the latter had better serve. Mr. French stated that Callahan had been elected to the office of sheriff, and that it was incumbent upon him to officiate or violate his oath of office. As a result there was a battle between the two sides with affidavits and counter-affidavits as weapons.

Judge Redwine thereupon called Deputy Sheriff John Jones to the front and empowered him with the duties of elisor, which means that he summons the jury and witnesses and that he is armed with full power, which is a big thing in a case like this, where the lines are so closely drawn and the conditions so complicated. Judge Redwine then ordered Jones to select 50 men from Magoffin county and have them here by Monday morning. A jury will be drawn from this venire.

The Judge instructed Jones to arrest any man who dared to spread his opinions in Magoffin county against the cases at issue. Jones is known as a game man and one who is not afraid to tackle a "bunch of wildcats." Judge Wm. Hurst, the father-in-law of Judge Redwine, and who is also the brother of Marcum's father-in-law, is engaged in the prosecution. After Court he said that the selection of Jones was satisfactory as it could be under the present circumstances.

PRESIDENT

A Guest at a Unique Dinner on Board the Presidential Train Last Night Enroute Home.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 5—President Roosevelt's train stopped here nine minutes this morning. While he was leaving some one in the large crowd present cried: "Rah for President Roosevelt, 1904." Mr. Roosevelt raised his hat and as the train was moving said: "I am happy to be with you. I am glad to be back again. Good luck to you."

The President dined with the newspaper men on the car "Gilsey" last night. He was presented with the keys of the "diner" and said: "I accept these in the same proud spirit in which they are tendered."

The diner was unique in every respect and the newspaper national guard consisting of colored porters with brooms at "present arms" formed protection for Mr. Roosevelt. The member of the German embassy who was on the train nearly fell dead when the President entered into the spirit of the affair and threw aside for the moment his official dignity.

DECLINE

In Penna. Stock May Have Been Caused by the Rockefeller-Gould Hammering.

New York, June 5—It is believed on Wall street that the steady decline in the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad has been caused by the hammering of the Rockefeller-Gould interest and that eventually control will pass from Cassatt to Rockefeller and Gould. Then would come a combination of the Rockefeller and Gould railways which would make the other combinations now in force insignificant.

SHIP GROUND

New York, June 5—Efforts to float the giant steamship Deutschland of the Hamburg-American line, which grounded in a fog on the shoal off Gedney channel yesterday afternoon were made at high tide early today, but failed. Another attempt to pull the ship into deep water will be made this afternoon. The Deutschland's bow is imbedded in soft mud near the junction of the main ship and Godney Channel and though one-third of the boat's length is grounded, it is not believed she is in any way damaged. The ship is in no danger. She carries 1030 passengers.

"The commanding General feels sure, although the time is very short, that there will be no lack of flowers at Columbus to decorate the graves of our dead at Camp Chase. To honor such dead is to honor the living. In this connection the General commanding finds great pleasure in reminding the Southern people of the hitherto most generous course of Colonel Knass, of the Union army, and of the broadminded people of Ohio in decorating the graves of these Confederates independently and in erecting the monument which adorns their resting place. Such acts illustrate the spirit of fraternity and unity, which is the surest guaranty of the republic's future progress and perpetuity."

LYNCHING

Of a Mississippi Negro--The Victim of Mob's Work Asked Time to Pray.

Greenville, Miss., June 5—John Dennis, a negro, was lynched here yesterday afternoon by a mob of 200 men. The negro attempted criminal assault on a well known young lady last Thursday night. When the streets were crowded by women shoppers, 200 determined men went to the jail and demanded admittance. This was refused and members of the mob secured a railroad rail and battered down the door of the prison. Dennis was taken to the telephone exchange and hanged on the cross arm of a telephone pole. Many women witnessed the lynching. The negro only asked time to pray.

FOREST FIRES

Continue to Do Great Damage in the North and East.

No Relief Till Heavy Rains Fall and None Are Predicted by Weather Bureau--The Sky is Still Covered With Foglike Haze

New York, June 5—The city awoke today to a continuation of the foglike haze caused by the smoke from the numerous forest fires in the north and east. It spread over the harbor like a pall and caused steamboat pilots to proceed with extreme caution during the early hours. Since Wednesday the sun has been shrouded as by a veil and in the smoke can be detected traces of burning pine and fir. The weather bureau says that no relief is in sight from rain.

FIRES STILL RAGING.

Glens Falls, N. Y., June 5—Better conditions prevail in the eastern and southern sections of the Adirondacks, although the fires will continue to burn until a heavy rain falls. The wind has gone down and the fire fighters have succeeded by liberal back firing and plowing, in making clearings around several valuable timber tracts which contain the summer homes and camps of well known millionaires. Quite a few fires are burning along the line of the Delaware and Hudson railroad in this vicinity. The fires extend from White Hall and Glens Falls to Saratoga. Fort Ann Mountain is ablaze.

BUILDINGS IN DANGER.

St. Albans, Vt., June 5—The forests through Essex county are ablaze and East Lamoille, in Lamoille county, is threatened. The fire is now burning down the side of the mountains in the direction of Morrisville and hundreds of farm buildings are in great danger. Extensive fires are also raging in several other sections of the state. (Continued on Page Five.)

COWBOYS

Engage in Bloody Gun Battle In Which Eight Persons Lose Their Lives-- Whole Family Wiped Out.

Lincoln, Neb., June 5—The details of the annihilation of almost a whole family have been received from St. Francis, Kansas. It seems that for some time there has been bad feeling between men employed by the Dewar and the cowboys fired. The oldest cattle company and a family named Berry over the possession of certain land. Berry and his four sons engaged in a battle with cowboys which resulted in the death of the father and three sons, the fourth being seriously wounded.

Land had been taken up by old man Berry as a homestead. The fences of the cattle company interfered with his passage to and from the road. Wire cutting on the part of Berry's family, in order to get the shortest possible road to town is said to have been the original cause of the quarrel. The cowboys on the Dewar ranch had threatened to kill the family.

The fight resulting in the five deaths came after a recent trip of the Berry family to the town. The father and three sons were returning to their home

Eight miles from their destination they stopped to cut their way through a wire fence. The cowboys came upon them just as they completed the work. The Berry's mounted quickly between men employed by the Dewar and the cowboys fired. The oldest boy, John, was wounded, but stayed in his saddle. The farmers had the freshest mounts and soon were beyond accurate rifle range. The cowboys kept up a scattering fusillade of shots. Arriving here the Berry's did not think they had been pursued all the way and they were in front of the house when the party of cowboys rode up the hill a few yards to the north. The old man and the other two boys got inside of the house. There were about twenty cowboys and they started on a gallop for the house, intending to fire it and burn the defenders out. The old man and the boys attempted to escape from the other side of the house and were shot down in succession. Three of the cowboys were killed by the farmers, while they were defending the house.

SLAUGHTER

Of Women and Children Who Were Cruelly Murdered By Bashi-Bozouks--Inhabitants of a Village Ruthlessly Annihilated.

Monastir, European Turkey, Sunday, May 30—Horrible details are arriving here of the slaughter of the inhabitants of the village of Smerdash, south of Lake Prespa, May 21, of Bashi Bazonuks.

It appears that on the arrival of Bashi-Bazonuks, Chakharoff's band of insurgents withdrew to the mountains without sustaining any loss. As no rebels were left in the village, the inhabitants experienced no anxiety until, suddenly, at sunset, the Turks, who had completely surrounded the place, commenced a regular bombardment whereupon all the villagers assembled in the streets. Though the artillery ceased firing during part of the night, the Turkish infantry fired all night long. The artillery bombardment was recommenced at daybreak, but as it was ineffective the Turks set fire to the village on all sides and commenced a general massacre, slaughtering women, children and the aged. About three hundred houses were burned and upwards of two hundred persons, mostly women and children, were killed. The women and girls were murdered while resisting outrage. Whole households were slain. One family of seven were slain and their bodies were heaped on the hearth. Not a living soul was left in the village. The survivors, many of them half burned or otherwise injured, fled. Some of the fleeing villagers were captured and had their ears and noses cut off before they were butchered. The report adds that 1500 villagers were in the mountains without clothing or food. One band of these, consisting of forty women and children, were caught by the soldiers in a ravine, and were killed after horrible treatment.

Both trains were in charge of pilots, and it is reported that one of them misread his instructions, causing the accident.

RED HOT

Were the Pokers Used in Torturing Him and His Brother, Declared the Little Boy.

Sharon, Pa., June 5—Henry Washington and his sister-in-law, Cora Bollen, aged 13, were committed to jail without bail by Justice T. O. Hazen, charged with causing the death of Willie, the six year old son of the former. Willie died Tuesday, and the father claimed the boy's brother, James, aged 7 years, had struck him on the head with a shoe. An investigation by the police resulted in the couple's arrest.

An awful story of brutality and inhuman treatment was told at the hearing. The boy, James, said that he did not throw the shoe, but that Cora had beaten Willie over the head with a poker; that his father threatened to kill him if he did not say that he threw a shoe. The boy said that he and his brother were tortured with a red-hot poker by Cora. His legs were swathed in bandages, and it was found the flesh was burned to the bone. He also stated that Cora had set his brother on a red-hot stove.

The father also beat the pair, according to James. They were chained by the feet to the floor every night and compelled to sleep on the hard floor.

Talk of lynching was freely heard and Justice Hazen hurried the prisoners to jail. He stated that he expected trouble, and swore in three extra police to protect the prisoners.

RETURNED

After Becoming Rich to Pay Back a Sum Borrowed Years Ago From Mayor.

Louisville, Ky., June 5—After seven years absence from the city, having gone to Nashville on pauper transportation, Chas. A. Widger, rushed into the office of Mayor Grainger at noon with a large valise in each hand. He was looking for the mayor, for he wanted to pay back to the city the $3.75, which was the amount advanced him in transportation many years ago. "Say, is this the place where the mayor is?" said Widger, as he rushed up to Thos. P. Craig, secretary to the mayor.

"Which mayor?" asked Mr. Craig, somewhat surprised.

"Oh, you know; I guess you're joshing me about not knowing, but I'll tell you the fellow I mean. He was a little fellow with a great big heart. He was kind to me once, and gave me a half fare ticket to Nashville. I promised at the time that I would return the other half, which was $3.75, soon as I got the coin. He laughed at me, and of course, thought I was lying. I wasn't and I have come back to make good. That half-fare ticket gave me a fresh start in life. I got down to Nashville, engaged in business, and soon went out west, where I made money in bunches. I've got $100,000 and I want to do the right thing. If that same mayor ain't here I want to pay that $3.75 to the city just the same. No joke. Here's the cash. All I want in return is a receipt."

The cash was turned over to the City Treasurer, who gave a receipt.

UNABLE

To Tell Whether He is White or Black Is Gaun, Fined for Living With Negroes.

Atlanta, Ga., June 5—"Judge, I do not know whether I am a negro or a white man," said Oscar Gaun, in the City court when arraigned to answer a charge of associating with negroes.

"When I was an infant," Gaun continued, "my mother, whoever she was, gave me away to a negro woman, who cared for me until I was grown. I have been told that my mother was a white woman, a member of a prominent South Carolina family. I think I am a white man, but I don't know. Anyway as I never knew any mother save a negro woman I have no racial prejudice and associate with negroes whenever I choose."

"This is a peculiar case," said Judge Broyles. "I believe you are white and pity you, but I will fine you $25.75."

Gaun seems to be white, is well educated and has polished manners. He has been in Atlanta three months. Moki Tea positively cures Sick Headache, Indigestion and Constipation. A delightful herb drink. DESOLATION Revealed by the Falling Water at Topeka—Seventy-One Bodies Have Been Found.

Topeka, Kan., June 5—The bodies of seven more flood victims have been found.

The list of known dead now reaches 71, with 30 people identified. It is the belief that many bodies are yet in the wreck. Scores are reported missing and there is no way of immediately locating them. The Union Pacific depot has been improvised as a morgue and there the bodies are gathered to await identification.

It is just now that the devastating power of the flood is becoming known. North Topeka is a total wreck. There is a town there—the plaything of the elements—which seems to have vanished until they were tired and then left it stranded. The water is still over a greater part of the town. In the residence districts it is seven feet deep in most places. The business part of the town is a sorry-looking place, the damage of the waters being almost complete. The fronts of most of the stores have openings broken through. The contents of most of the stores are ruined. In the residence districts practically the same sights present themselves.

The greatest danger now exists in the wretched sanitary conditions. The Health Board is busying itself with the problem of sanitation and will do everything possible to prevent an epidemic.

Only one remedy in the world that will at once stop itchiness of the skin in any part of the body; Doan's Ointment. At any drug store, 50c. mwf

EUTERPEAN

Exercises in Honor of the Young Women Graduates—Diplomas to Six Young Women.

Granville, O., June 5—The extra commencement given by the members of the Euterpean Literary Society in honor of the young women of the society who graduate from Denison this year, was one of the most enjoyable events thus far of the commencement season. The stage was very artistically decorated with the Euterpean colors—yellow and white, and white daisies, and the program carried out was a most interesting one, dealing entirely with Granville and Denison life. It consisted of a vocal solo by Edith Watson, Papers on Granville by Bessie Willis, Myra Pellens and Mary Jones; a story of college life at Denison by Tina Willis; violin solo by Rosalie Hoisey and a piano selection by Margaret Watkin. At the conclusion of the program, which was very much enjoyed, Miss Elsie Husted the society president, delivered a short address to the Seniors, which was responded to by Miss Corinne Metz. Diplomas from Euterpean were granted to Misses Corinne Metz, Rachel Cowell, Lillian Meggison, Mary Palmerton, Jessie and Estella King.

GRAND JURY.

Mr. Wynne that there were no places; that the department was full enough of bad women and that it had come to pass that any woman with a pretty face and fine figure could secure congressional endorsement.

The President in a conference with the first assistant reprimanded him. Wynne defended his action by showing that the conversation of which Latimer complained, had taken place five months before; that he probably did make the remark concerning congressional endorsement, for he said that in the main it was correct, but he declared he did not class all women in the departments as bad, but only a small percentage. This, he said, he would stand by. He also declared to the President that of all rottenness in the government, that in the postoffice department took the lead.

GUILTY

Jury Declares Jos. P. Miller—Hughes Trial Set for Monday Before Judge Thompson.

Columbus, O., June 5—Joseph P. Miller, the Columbus merchant tailor, was today sentenced by United States Judge A. C. Thompson to thirteen months in the penitentiary for using the mails to blackmail paramours of his wife, prominent Columbus men. Mrs. Miller is now in the penitentiary serving a sentence for the same offense.

Columbus, June 5—Joseph P. Miller was found guilty of using the mails to defraud, by a jury in the United States court after less than 30 minutes' deliberation.

H. W. Ward, attorney for Mr. Miller, made a motion for a new trial, which will be argued before Judge Thompson today. Mr. Miller was held under bond of $3000, which he failed to secure and he spent the night in the Franklin county jail.

The maximum penalty for the crime of which Miller has been convicted is 18 months in the penitentiary or a fine of $5000 or both.

The case against Ivor Hughes, charged with conspiracy to defraud, and jointly indicted with Miller, has been continued until Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. Hughes was called to Milwaukee on account of the serious illness of his mother.

Friends of Mr. Hughes do not anticipate a conviction in his case, basing their hopes, in part, upon the charge of Judge Thompson in the Miller case, in which he held that, in the event Mr. Miller thought the persons to whom he mailed the letters had been guilty of the conduct charged, he had a full and sufficient cause of action against them.

In this event, claim the friends of Mr. Hughes, Mr. Miller had a right to employ an attorney, and Mr. Hughes was justified in acting conscientiously in a legal capacity.

MILLION

Natives in Kwang-Si, China, are Starving—An Appeal for Relief to Americans.

Washington, June 5—Secretary Hay has received a cable from Consul McWade at Canton, which says:

"Governor Wong telegraphs me that over 1,000,000 natives in Kwang-Si are starving and earnestly appeals for help from American charity, all relief distributions to go through the hands of American and British missionaries."

Sir Shantung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, called at the State Department and was placed in possession of such advice as the officials had respecting the distress in Kwang-Si. The minister appeared to be bewildered, and was unable to suggest any measure of relief for his suffering countrymen. The State department, although not anxious to embark in wholesale charitable enterprises, will undertake to do what it can in forwarding relief measures, and without further reference to the minister here will itself transmit directly to Mr. McWade, the consul general at Canton, any funds which the charitably inclined people of America may choose to contribute. Mr. McWade has already stated that he can use the numerous American and British missions in China to distribute the money to the best advantage.

SECURITIES CASE.

St. Paul, Minn., June 5—The case of the state of Minnesota against the Northern Securities company and the roads whose control is merged in the New Jersey corporation were argued in the United States Circuit Court before Judge Lochren this morning. The arguments were based upon practically the same testimony as that in the case brought against the merger by the federal government. The states case, however, is on entirely different grounds. The federal case alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but the states case is brought under a state statute which specifically prohibits the consolidation of parallel and competing lines of railway.

The arguments may last two or three days.

WEHRLE INDICTED.

Toledo, O., June 5—Herman Wehrle, former postmaster at Middle Bass Island, was today indicted by the federal jury for embezzling funds of the post-office amounting to $4,293.

THE CONVENTION.

The Ohio Republican State Convention has passed into history. That is, it was called a state convention, and the delegates were allowed to go to it and cast their ballots, merely to keep up the harmless delusion, although the ticket itself had been named by Mark Hanna and George B. Cox long ago. There was one pretended little contest for State School Commissioner, merely to continue this harmless delusion on the part of delegates, and as a sort of red fire to keep the boys amused, until George B. Cox moved to adjourn. There is nothing remarkable either in the ticket or platform unless it be their weakness, and that they were slated, from A to Izzard. There is nothing in the ticket to awaken enthusiasm on the part of anybody, and the platform is very perfunctory, especially in its "endorsement" of President Roosevelt.

Myron T. Herrick, a wealthy capitalist of Cleveland, heads the ticket for Governor, yet every one knows that nine out of ten of the Republicans of Ohio wanted General Dick nominated for Governor. Dick was sidetracked with the promise of something better, probably, and Albert Douglass had his political windpipe cut again, to make room for Hanna's favorite. While Mr. Herrick is probably a very excellent gentleman, he has done nothing to distinguish himself, unless making money distinguishes a man, and he is certainly not a Republican leader, or in any way entitled to the gratitude of the Republican party, as were General Dick, Harry Daugherty, Albert Douglass and others.

The "colored brother," who may generally be relied upon as a political asset of the Republican party, finds no recognition on the ticket or platform, except in the meaningless chestnut in the platform in regard to Southern representation in Congress.

In nominating Guilbert for Auditor of State, the Republican party of Ohio commits itself unalterably to the third term heresy. The "old soldier" element has again been ignored by the Republican party on the state ticket, unless it be in the sole exception of Jones, as School Commissioner A fair and square issue was made on nominating an old soldier or a civilian for Lieutenant Governor, and Boothman, the "old soldier," was compelled to withdraw in favor of Harding, the civilian candidate, because Boss Cox wanted it so.

REPUBLICAN BOSS RULE EXEMPLIFIED.

The slaughter of Col. Melville M. Gillett, of this city, for the nomination for State Auditor at the recent Republican State Convention, is a striking illustration of the one man power that now pervades the Republican party in Ohio and elsewhere. While we detest Col. Gillett's political views, it must be conceded that he is an excellent gentleman, of good character and ability, and in every way deserving of preferment by the party he has so faithfully served. He is young, capable, loyal and had an enthusiastic following among the better class of younger Republicans of the State. But what did all that matter in a convention bossed by Mark Hanna and George B. Cox? Col. Gillett had the character; he had the ability; he had the party service. But he might as well have been a citizen of Australia, so far as any recognition was concerned on the part of the Republican State Convention, which only gave him a beggarly 138 votes out of 873. Why was Col. Gillett thus slaughtered in the house of his friends? Simply because he did not have a stand-in with Mark Hanna and Geo. B. Cox; simply because he was not on the "slate" of these bosses, as the American-Tribune says. It is an interesting question as to how much longer the great Republican party of Ohio, supposed to contain the average amount of intelligence and patriotism, will thus submit to have its brightest and best young leaders, like Albert Douglass and Melville M. Gillett, slaughtered at the dictation of two such bosses as Hanna and Cox.

OBEYED THE BOSSES.

Thursday's Republican state convention shows what machine politics can do in Ohio. The entire ticket forecasted in a Cincinnati paper on May 31 was nominated. To be sure there was an apparent contest or two but the bosses had the whole thing fixed up before the convention met and the gathering of delegates was simply to ratify what Marcus A. Hanna and George B. Cox had already decided upon. That there was a sentiment among the delegates against third-termism was apparent to every man who was in Columbus during the two-day convention, but the delegates were afraid to vote as they wanted to. They had obeyed orders. Colonel Gillett made a mistake in not going to Mr. Cox and Mr. Hanna before he thought of running for auditor of state and seeking their permission to do so. Permission would have been denied him, but the colonel could then have taken the tip and would have saved some money.

SLATE TICKET WINS.

This is the way that the American-Tribune, the Republican organ of Licking county, "enforced" the recent action of the Republican State Convention in its issue of Thursday, commenting upon the Republican State ticket nominated. It says, in big scare head lines:

"Slate Ticket Goes Through."
"Gillett's valiant fight for State Auditor comes to naught in the face of the 'slate' opposition."
The truth will be spoken sometimes.

The Republican State Convention, so-called, otherwise the Hanna-Cox ratification meeting, held in Columbus on Wednesday and Thursday has placed itself fairly and squarely on record in favor of the third term principle by nominating W. D. Guilbert for a third term as auditor of state in spite of the strong opposition that prevailed among the rank and file of the party.

The pretended indorsement of President Roosevelt, at his request, through Mark Hanna, by the Republican State Convention, was decidedly a cold storage affair. "We favor his nomination for President in 1904." This will not hurt Mr. Roosevelt, neither will it hurt Senator Hanna.

The Republican State platform adopted at Columbus on Thursday is, like the alleged State Convention, a tame and spiritless affair. We will have more to say about it in the Advocate hereafter.

INDICTMENTS

Are Returned Against Miller, Struble and Woltz.

Three Newark Men Must Answer Charge of Using U. S. Mails to Defraud—Action of U. S. Grand Jury.

(Special Advocate Telegram.)
Columbus, O., June 5—The United States grand jury this afternoon, Judge A. C. Thompson of the federal court presiding, returned indictments against three Newark men, Messrs. W. H. H. Miller, F. E. Struble and G. J. Woltz.
These men, as the Advocate readers know, were recently arrested on the charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with southern real estate deals. Miller and Struble were released some time ago on bond pending the action of the United States grand jury while Woltz was unable to furnish bond. There are six counts in each indictment returned this afternoon and there is an indictment against the Globe Real Estate company as well as the men who operated that institution.

East bound B. & O. freight No. 22, was the train that was wrecked. A draw bar broke and the first car back of the engine with one other fell into the ditch about fifteen feet below. Altogether a dozen cars were derailed, but only two went down the embankment.
Brakeman Fred Leonard was thrown down the bank but no bones were broken, his injuries consisting of some bruises.
One of the cars that was wrecked was loaded with furniture while another that went down was full of beer and wine.

E. B. WILSON

Died Early Friday Morning at His Father's Home on Church Street.
Funeral Sunday.

Mr. Edwin B. Wilson, one of the best known and highly esteemed citizens of Newark, passed away at his home, 441

West Church street, at 7:10 o'clock on Friday morning, after a severe illness lasting since last February. The spirit which has been trying to free itself from its tenement of clay for some days has taken its flight and the cold body of the well known citizen is all that is left.

The deceased was born in Barnesville, Belmont county, over fifty-seven years ago, and had been an employee of the Baltimore Railroad company for over thirty-five years, twenty-five years of which time he had served in the capacity of engineer and was always considered as one of the most faithful and reliable engineers in the service. He removed to Newark about thirty years ago, and had resided here ever since. No man in the city was held in higher estimation; none deserved friends more than he and all will mourn his departure. For the past twelve years he had been in charge of the Newark and Granville Electric Railway power house, and had always given the best of satisfaction.

In his death a widow and five children are left to mourn his demise. They are Henry, Charles, Edward and Raymond Wilson, and Mrs. Rose Wright, all of this city.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the St. Francis de Sales church and will be under the auspices of Division No. 36, B. of L. E., of which the deceased had been a member for many years, and the interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

OPENING

Of Idlewilde Promises to be a Big Event—Park is Now Ready for the People.

The seats for Idlewilde casino were not put on sale last night as expected on account of the new opera chairs being late in arriving and the floor plan was not perfected. Everything else as regards the grand opening for Sunday is in promising condition. The privilege people are beginning to decorate their stands. The electric light displays are all in position. The flower gardens are beginning to bloom, the lakes are filled and by Sunday the finishing touches will be put to everything and New Idlewilde will throw open the doors of welcome to all with a smiling readiness to make good her chosen sobriquet of "Nature's Own Bower." From the frame of photos displayed on the street there are fourteen very nice looking ladies and gentlemen in the vaudeville hall at the casino for next week and if the weather as favorable the crowd will be a large one that will greet the opening Sunday.

Messrs. Wm. and Peter Baker, of Mt. Vernon, are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Baker at their home on West Main street.

D. C. JEWETT

Says His Father Was Not One of Forger Moody's Victims—Letter from Mr. Jewett.

In the account of the death of Henry S. Benard, alias "L. Moody," noted forger, which occurred in Pueblo, Colo., on May 26, it was reported that he had been arrested in Newark in 1878 by ex-Marshal Joseph Griffith, on the charge of forgery, and that the late D. D. Jewett of this city, was among the victims. The Advocate has received a letter from Mr. D. C. Jewett, a son of Mr. D. D. Jewett, in which he says that the report that his father was "among the victims," is not true. Mr. Jewett says: "The man came into our office which was at that time where Ashbrook & Co. now have their office and asked my father to advance him a certain sum on a New York draft, sending the same to our agent at Wheeling, where he would redeem it and pay $5 in addition to the amount advanced, for father. He stated that he did not know any one in Newark, but Mr. John Franklin and that he was out of town. Father refused to help him out and he left the office. My desk was near the window and hearing the conversation I happened to look in the direction of the Franklin bank, and saw Mr. John Franklin standing in front of the bank. The fellow left our office and went over to the First National bank, while I went over to Mr. Franklin and found that he did not know any such man. The man came over to the Franklin Bank and from there he went to Elliott's book store. I followed him and on inquiry found that he was trying to work the same game in each place, changed to fit the situation in each case. At Elliott's book store he represented himself as a salesman for the Rockford Paper company, having one of their drafts on which he wished to raise some money. I sent for Joe Griffith and we found the fellow in Weiant's bookstore, and, was just in time to catch him up the act of issuing one of his forgeries and receiving some money from Mr. Weiant. The trial was set for the time when I would be on my wedding trip and Mr. Ashbury Barriek, who was the State's attorney at the time, arranged it so that it would not interfere with this important event. The above is what I testified to at this trial, and I think will show that Mr. D. D. Jewett was not one of the victims of this man, but was rather instrumental in aiding in his capture."

NOT BOOTH

Veteran Doorkeeper After Years of Silence Says Man Buried Wasn't Lincoln's Assassin.

New York, June 5—A Washington dispatch to the Herald, says: Mr. Basil Moxley, veteran doorkeeper at Ford's Opera House, after a silence of years informs the world that the body buried in Greenmount Cemetery, Baltimore, was not that of the assassin, but that of another man forwarded to Baltimore by the Government at the solicitation of the Booth family and their friends. Mr. Moxley is the sole survivor of the men who acted as pallbearers at what he now terms a mock funeral and he has delayed the time ripe to tell the facts in this strange disclosure.

"I knew Booth well," said Mr. Moxley, "and conversed with him only a short time before the affair in Washington. I am the only one of the pallbearers left. The man who was brought to Baltimore did not resemble Booth. He had brown hair, while Booth's was jet black. There was also a difference in their general appearance."

The foregoing dispatch again recalls the statement made by C. C. Ritter, a former Newark man who stated positively that Lincoln's assassin was alive. Ritter claimed to have been in correspondence with Booth, but had on the night of the tragedy promised not to tell his secret for 30 years.

Gillett's Vote.

As announced in the Advocate dispatch from Columbus Thursday C. H. Gillett received 128 votes in the Republican state convention and his successful opponent, W. D. Guilbert got 75. All of the large delegations with the exception of Franklin county went solidly for Guilbert. Gillett received the following vote: Athens 2, Belmont 7, Brown 2, Champaign 3, Clark 4, Coshocton 3, Delaware 4, Franklin 8, Gascon 6, Guernsey 2, Hancock 5, Hardin 1, Holmes 2, Jackson 6, Jefferson 6, Knox 2, Lawrence 4, Licking 10, Madison 5, Marion 4, Mercer 3, Muskingum 5, Perry 4, Pickaway 2, Preble 5, Ross 5, Summit 5, Trumbull 2, Tuscarawas 10, Wayne 8, Williams 3, total 128. It may be noted that Gillett received only 4 of the 6 votes in Delaware county, the home of Senator Overholt.

FOREST FIRES.

eral parts of Orleans county.

IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Littleton, N. H., June 5—The situation caused by the spread of the forest fires throughout the state was somewhat relieved today. The most serious fire in this section is between Waterford and Littleton and on Kiburn Crags. It is impossible to pass on some of the roads in that vicinity and cottages at Willoughby lake in Barton are threatened. Great damage has been done on Grant and Wheeler mountains.

WISCONSIN FIRE.

New Lisbon, Wis., June 5—Fire this morning destroyed the greater portion of the town, including 12 stores, a bank and nine dwellings. Loss $75,000.

GREAT DAMAGE DONE.

New Bedford, Mass., June 5—A big forest fire is now raging about eight miles north of the city near Brady's Station. It promises to be the most disastrous fire of the kind in recent years. Already something like 250 acres are burned over and thousands of dollars worth of pine timber and cord wood have been consumed.

AIR FILLED WITH SMOKE.

Plattsburg, N. Y., June 5—In the wake of Lake Placid the air is filled with smoke that it is impossible to see a distance of a city block.

White Face Inn, on the lake, is completely surrounded by flames, and the large force of men who have been working for three days to save the hotel are completely exhausted. It is hoped, however that the flames are under control.

Storyworld Sanitarium for consumptives at Lake Placid is in serious danger and extra help has been summoned to endeavor to check the rapidly spreading flames.

THE C. O. D. MAN

He Tells of Romantic Women Looking For Knight Errants.

Now then a country constable has given me the collar for a tramp," said the C. O. D. man as he pocketed his fee in advance, "but most people have sized me up for what I am—a dilapidated gentleman making a sort of farewell tour of the country."

"It's a practical age, and love stories are out of date, but don't you forget that there's lots of romance lying around loose. It has got me into trouble over and over again. Most men will take me for what I seem to be, but most women scent a romance in my coming."

"Four years ago last summer I was up in Connecticut making a slow jaunt and enjoying the scenery as I passed along. One day I stopped at a farmhouse where the farmer's old maid sister was his housekeeper. I don't think I looked like a knight errant as I drew near the house and hit the dog in the head with a rock, but I had scarcely inquired if I could get a drink of buttermilk when I saw romance in the old maid's eye. In five minutes she had worked up a case against me."

"I was the Chevalier d'Aural in disguise. I was looking for some one who would marry me for love alone. I had left my retinue in Podunk and my lance in a pumpkin somewhere else. Buttermilk was not good enough for me. She sat me down to a square meal, and she waited on me with her own hands."

"The brother came up from the corn field by and by, and one glance told me that he ran to pork and beans instead of romance. After the sister talked to him in private he invited me to tarry for a day or two and rest my lordly tiredness, but I didn't like his looks. His demeanor toward my lord smacked of a put up job. He invited me out to the barn to inspect a colt he had just bought, and we had hardly entered the building when he turned on me with:

"Now, then, you durned old tramp, but I'm goin' to thump Texas out of you."

"What for? I asked.

"Because of my fool sister. You are no more of a lord or duke than my old white faced ox."

"With that he tackled me," said the C. O. D. man, "but I had a surprise party awaiting him. He was lusty of limb and broad in the back, but I put him to sleep in one round. The old maid was on hand to see the last of the row, and I was not only a knight errant, but a hero as well in her eyes. She offered then and there to elope with me and pay me reverence all her days, and I have no doubt that she shed copious tears and was heartbroken when I got into my coat and made for the highway.

"I PUT HIM TO SLEEP IN ONE ROUND,"

"Poor old girl! I felt sorry for her; but, meeting a tin peddler a mile away, I posted him up on the knight business, and he said he would stop at the house and work up a good thing."

"The winter of that same year brought me another romance. I was viewing the frosty scenery between two Rhode Island towns when two tramps ahead of me turned into a farmhouse. I turned in also as I came up, and I walked into the kitchen just as they had locked a girl up in a closet and were about to go through the house. They invited me to take a hand in. I took two hands in. They made it interesting for me for three or four minutes, but Weary Willie is no boxer. He depends upon wild swings instead of straight punches. I had 'em both down when the farmer came up and sent the fellows off to jail."

"Seek No Further apples and mince pies were none too good for me for the next week. The daughter was a school-marm about twenty years of age, and I had won her heart ere three days had passed. The old man thought I lacked weight to hold a plow in stony ground, but I guess he would have sanctioned the match out of gratitude. It was not to be, however. When I had cured the bilsters on my heels with mutton tallow I went out to split some wood one evening and forgot to return to the house."

"Another case happened two years ago, and this time it was a widow. As I jogged along a dusty highway in Ohio I got cotton in my throat and called at a farmhouse for a drink. I saw no one about and went to the well to help myself from the old oak bucket. Some one cried out to me from the bottom of the well, and, behold, I let down the bucket to draw up a woman! It was the widow who owned the farm, and she had been down there a couple of hours. She wasn't over a minute and a half jumping from gratitude to admiration, and in a couple of minutes more she realized that I was a knight of the Golden Cross in disguise. That settled it. She had been expecting one along ever since her husband fell from the top of his windmill and was killed, and her heart was mine before she had changed her ice cold draperies.

"She was a good looking woman, and it was a bully farm, but I could not return her love. As a dilapidated gentleman I had to make a tour of Indiana before winter set in. Aside from my own feelings in the matter, there was the hired man to be consulted. He threw out hints that I was no more of a knight than he was a Hubbard squash, and he finally became so plain spoken that I had to leave him sleep under the currant bushes as I pursued my adventurous way."

"Oh, yes; we've got electric street cars, wireless telegrams, self acting washboards and patent pancakes, and we are looking for automatic nursemaids and double jointed refrigerators, but don't you bet that all the romance of life has died out. There's heaps of it lying around loose, and Chevalier Tomnoddy has only got to appear at just the right moment to wake it up."

Second Marriages.

Statistics gathered by the New York board of health show that widowers of all races, colors and creeds take less kindly to a second dose of single blessedness than do widows. Of the total number of persons seeking the marital state in the standard year the be-reaved ones of both sexes made up one-tenth of the list, and the widowers outdid the widows to the number of 556. Since the reports of the board deal solely with indisputable facts and leave debatable theories to the speculative mind the inquirer has to look elsewhere for an explanation of the disparity in figures. He finds it in various sources, but the authorities consulted disagree. However, the preponderance of testimony indicates that woman by the sweetness of her disposition contributes more materially to a man's happiness than he does to hers and that, having lost one spouse, he is never satisfied until he finds somebody else like her.

Men Do Women's Work.

One of the most interesting features of census records of the number of persons above ten years of age occupied in gainful pursuits is the revelation of the number of men who are doing work that properly is within woman's province. For instance, it is the natural and inalienable right of the woman to teach school. But there are 11,926 male teachers. So, too, nursing ought to be peculiarly the task of women, yet there are 12,291 male nurses. It is indisputable that women of more or less tender age ought to monopolize stenography and typewriting, yet there are men bold enough to intrude upon 23,553 positions of the first kind and 2,753 of the second. Moreover, such is the fancy or the fate of some males that 1,718 of them are milliners, 2,116 are dressmakers and 4,837 are seamstresses.—Southern Farm Magazine.

The Difference.

"What a luxury a clear conscience is!" exclaimed the high minded statesman.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "it's a luxury, but it isn't a necessity."

Street Dug.

There can be no doubt that the filling the air with clouds of fine street dust is in more ways than one injurious to the health. This dust cloud is especially harmful to persons with delicate throats and lungs, and it must be no inconsiderable factor in aggravating the all prevalent catarrhal affections with which so many people are afflicted. Communities which permit this disgrace lack something of complete enlightenment and progressiveness. There ought to be genius to devise a remedy, and there ought to be public spirit and intelligence to carry it into operation.—New Bedford Standard.

Eggleston's War History.

George Cary Eggleston is at work on a history of the Confederate war. He does not claim that it is the first history of the Confederate war attempted. He is trying, however, to write of the Confederate war from the point of view of a succeeding century and in so simple a way that a reader untrained in military technicalities can understand the story of what happened as perfectly as if military technicalities had not been involved in the matter at all. Mr. Eggleston says, "I am writing with as absolute impartiality as I can bring to bear upon the task."—New York Mail and Express.

Coal Tar Medicine.

In the matter of the coal tar products the medical profession has been guilty of that fault for which they have so often criticised the public, enthusiasm for drugs. When the coal tar products were first introduced into medicine extravagant claims were made for their therapeutic value, so that they began to be used by the public as well as by the profession. The use soon became indiscriminate. The result has been productive of much harm.—Philadelphia Medical Journal.

SNAKE HYPNOTISM.

Expert Says the Power of Fascinating Prey Indubitably Exists.

Graham Peck, a well known authority on snakes, was asked his opinion regarding a snake's hypnotic powers. His reply was as follows:

"There is a certain power to fascinate in a snake's eyes and movements. I saw only the other day a typical illustration of the power of a snake to fascinate."

"Over in the pine woods I saw a ground squirrel fascinated by a black gopher snake. The forked tongue darted out of the snake's mouth almost as regularly and rapidly as the needle of a sewing machine rises, and falls. The squirrel seemed to watch it spellbound. The snake crept slowly nearer. When the gopher snake was within two or three inches of the squirrel it gave a leap and threw three coils about the squirrel. Instantly the spell was gone. The fascination or charm there had been over the little animal was no doubt broken the very moment the serpent's coils were about the squirrel, for the animal gave three convulsive, terrified chirps and realized that its death moment had come."

"I believe implicitly that all snakes have a certain degree of power to fascinate their victims to death. Black snakes, gopher snakes and racers have the power to a large degree. Rattlesnakes have the most fascinating power among all the poisonous serpents in the southwest. The indications of charming among poisonous snakes are deceiving sometimes. Poisonous snakes fang their prey once only. The poison does not kill at once. The victim flutters to a branch, it may be, or runs a short distance and stops. The snake watches it. The poison does its deadly work and the bird falls. Any one who comes up, not having seen the attack, might be readily deceived into imagining that it was the glance of the snake and not the poison that caused the victim to fall."—Detroit Free Press.

At 10 a. m. a business meeting was held and a report of the secretary and treasurer was received. The same officers that served last year were selected for the ensuing year. A sumptuous dinner was served and an interesting program carried out in the afternoon. Dr. O. C. Larimore of Philadelphia, Pa., who is writing a history of the family, made a few remarks, after which a group picture was taken of those present. While the remaining few hours of the afternoon were spent in a social way a phonograph furnished some fine music.

It was decided to hold the reunion next year at the home of Mr. Newell Larimore at Brandon, on the first Wednesday in June.

PEOPLE WHO CAN'T SLEEP.

Many people go to bed—not to sleep, but to think—to tumble and toss—to get up, walk about until tired Nature gives way and a few fitful hours of sleep are obtained just before dawn—a sleep that does not rest—a sleep from which one wakes weary and tired, wholly unfitted to take up the daily routine of household, shop or office duties. That condition goes on uncorrected for is almost criminal, when the well known, time-tried and tested powers of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to give restful, natural sleep have been so fully proven in such cases.

Mrs. W. Bates of 1484 South Sixth street, Newark, Ohio, says:—"Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I know are excellent because they made my nerves steady—gave me strength and good restful sleep, three things I needed badly. Their action was rapid and more than satisfactory, and I am right glad in the face of the fine result I obtained that C. T. Bricker, druggist, called my attention to the medicine." 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase M.
